NIKE, INC.,

Plaintiff,

vs.

Case No. 1:22-cv-00983

VEC

STOCKX LLC,

Defendant.

DEPOSITION OF JOHN L. HANSEN, taken on behalf of the Defendant, at Debevoise & Plimpton
LLP, 650 California Street, 31st Floor,
San Francisco, California, commencing at 9:05 a.m., Thursday, August 31, 2023 before REBECCA L. ROMANO,
a Certified Shorthand Reporter, Certified Court
Reporter, Registered Professional Reporter.

1 Q. I represent to you that this is a
2 document taken from the Wayback Machine, which is
3 an Internet archive that captures and records
4 digital images of websites over time, and I further 5 represent to you that this was captured by the 6 Internet Archive on December 25th, 2019, and I
7 direct your attention to the header and the footer
8 on the first page which make reference to the 9 Wayback Machine and certain dates and websites.

10 Have you ever looked at -- and I'm not
11 asking specifically about this document.

12 Have you ever looked at StockX's Terms
13 and Conditions of Use?

14 A. I don't specifically recall reviewing 15 their Terms and Conditions of Use.

16 Q. So did you offer the opinion in 17 paragraph 31 of your first amended report without 18 ever looking at StockX's actual -- of their 19 policies?

20 MR. MILLER: Objection.

21 THE DEPONENT: I don't believe I refer
22 back to the StockX Terms and Conditions of Use. I
23 looked at public statements on the website where 24 consumers would interact with StockX for purposes
25 of conducting commerce.

1 Q. (By Mr. Riehl) In paragraph 31 of your
2 first amended report, you offer an opinion about
3 StockX's publicized return policy, right?

4 A. I do.

5 Q. You did not look at StockX's Terms and 6 Conditions of Use as part of your effort to 7 determine what StockX's publicized return policy
8 was; is that right?

9 MR. MILLER: Objection.

10 THE DEPONENT: There were other
11 statements about what their policy was and other 12 documents and information that indicated how that 13 policy was articulated on their website. So that's 14 what I'm referring to and relying on.

15 Q. (By Mr. Riehl) And what statements are 16 those?

17 A. I read one to you earlier from one of 18 these exhibits, which was they don't accept
19 returns, exchanges, or cancellations.

20 Q. And it's your understanding that that 21 document was a publicly stated position in that 22 document?

23 MR. MILLER: Objection.

24 THE DEPONENT: That's consistent with my
25 understanding of the public-facing information

1 available on the StockX platform for purchases.

2 Q. (By Mr. Riehl) And what other publicly
3 facing information on the website did you look at 4 in your analysis of what StockX's publicized return
5 policy was?

6 A. Nothing specific comes to mind. It's 7 also the testimony and documents and correspondence
8 that we've reviewed that talks about the lack of a 9 return policy, consistent with expectations for an 10 e-commerce site.

11 Q. You're aware that e-commerce sites
12 typically do have publicly available terms and 13 conditions posted on their websites, right?

14 MR. MILLER: Objection.

15 THE DEPONENT: That wouldn't be unusual.

16 Q. (By Mr. Riehl) And to determine a 17 company's publicized return policy, one would 18 ordinarily want to determine whether or not the 19 company had such terms and conditions posted,
20 right?

21 MR. MILLER: Objection.

22 THE DEPONENT: I'm not sure I understand
23 your question.

24 Q. (By Mr. Riehl) If you want to know --
25 sorry, strike that.

1 Do you, personally, buy things online?

2 A. On occasion.

3 Q. If you want to know the return policy of 4 a company you are considering buying from, you
5 would look on their website to see if they have a
6 posted policy, right?

7 MR. MILLER: Objection.

8 THE DEPONENT: Generally, there's 9 information that's available publicly, yeah, a page
10 for returns or exchanges that would set forth
11 policy. It's not always available, but sometimes 12 it's available, and it may vary based on the 13 particular transaction.

14 Q. (By Mr. Riehl) And in your personal
15 life, if you were interested in knowing whether a
16 company you were thinking of buying from had a
17 return policy, you would look to see if they had 18 one posted, right?

19 MR. MILLER: Objection.

20 THE DEPONENT: If I was interested in 21 finding out a specific piece of information, I
22 would look for that information.

23 Q. (By Mr. Riehl) So, in this case, when 24 you made statements about StockX's publicized
25 return policy, why didn't you go looking for

1 StockX's publicized Terms and Conditions of Use?

2 MR. MILLER: Objection.

3 THE DEPONENT: I didn't review the Terms
4 and Conditions of Use. I looked at other
5 information available in the record referencing and 6 discussing the return policy that was publicly
7 stated, as well as other information and testimony
8 about that.

9 Q. (By Mr. Riehl) And why didn't you look
10 to see if they had publicly posted Terms and 11 Conditions of Use?

12 MR. MILLER: Objection.

13 THE DEPONENT: Well, again, there were
14 references to the information that was publicly 15 available. And that was consistent with and 16 sufficient as a basis for my opinions.

17 Q. (By Mr. Riehl) Wouldn't it also be 18 relevant to your opinions if they posted something 19 about that policy in their Terms and Conditions of 20 Use?

21 MR. MILLER: Objection.

22 THE DEPONENT: It would be another
23 potential source. I don't know that a consumer
24 would generally go back to click through
25 authorization for terms and conditions to return

1 something, like a return policy. Generally that's 2 summarized on a website.

3 Q. (By Mr. Riehl) And can you identify any 4 StockX Web page in which StockX -- strike that.
5 I'll ask you another question.

6 Please look at Deposition Exhibit 6.

7 Do you have any reason to think this
8 document does not show StockX's publicly available
9 Terms and Conditions of Use as of December 25th,
10 2019?

11 MR. MILLER: Objection.

12 THE DEPONENT: I don't have any basis to 13 disagree with that.

14 Q. (By Mr. Riehl) Please turn to section 6
15 on the second page.

16 It's a little tricky to see paragraph
17 divisions because there aren't spaces in between,
18 but do you see the text that looks like -- kind of 19 at the start of the second paragraph that begins:
20 "If a buyer receives an item"?

21 A. I do see that.

22 Q. So starting there, do you see that this
23 document says, "If a buyer receives an item that it
24 believes to be counterfeit, the buyer must notify 25 StockX in writing 3 days after receiving the item,

1 and we will commence an investigation into the 2 item. The buyer shall cooperate with us in the 3 investigation and final disposition of the item,
4 including providing photographs and other evidence
5 of the item, providing the item to law enforcement,
6 destroying the item, or delivering the item back to 7 us, at our direction. If we elect to have the 8 buyer destroy the item, the buyer shall provide 9 reasonable proof of destruction to us. We will 10 refund all fees and costs paid by the buyer for the 11 item (including shipping and handling). In no
12 event may a buyer resell any item (on StockX or 13 elsewhere) that is reasonably believed to be 14 counterfeit."

15 Do you see that?

16 A. I do.

17 Q. And you had not read that language or 18 language like it before today, right?

19 MR. MILLER: Objection.

20 THE DEPONENT: I recall seeing a
21 reference to the "3 days" in a later publicized
22 version of the website that was subsequent --
23 subsequently changed to, I think, ten days.

24 Q. (By Mr. Riehl) And the rest of the 25 language we just read is not language that you saw
